STATEMENT BY MR. ALBERT D RICHARD SON—LETTER TO MR. JUNIUS HENRI

BROWNE

FORDHAM N Y,

Sunday Night, Dec 1 1867

MY DEAR JUNIUS On the last nine pages or my "Household Expense Book," in my desk here you will find a clear statement of my business affairs Should the madman who has once attempted my life—and who just now shows some symptoms of renewing his attempt—succeed in killing me, as he has threatened wo rehemently to cores of people, will you please set forth clearly a few of the ficts for the sake of the lady they involve (you know how hard, how self-sacrificing and how pure her life has been) and or my children whom I wish to have know all about them, that they may see in mature. about them, that they may see in maturer years, that my conduct in this matter has at least left them nothing to blush for

First—That he has inherited a taint of madness in his blood, his grandfather (m. ernal) having died a maniac, and one of thers having been for years notor: ous for his absolute midness when under the influence of liquor, and having abused his wite at such times that she will carry him shut up like any other madman Second—That before Daniel McFarlin l shim shall up like any other madman

Second—That before Daniel McFailvil had been married to his wit two tears had, in a fit of pass or, strack her so stolently in the face that she carried the marks for days, and that aguin and again in his mad fit's he had terrined hor with threats of violence to himself and her by the display of revolvers, kintes etc.

Third—That from pride and delicacy she had shielded him as far as possible had kept his infirmities secret in the vain hope that he might reform hid worked hard and uncomplainingly for the support of her children and him, that findly she had explained fully to two of her friends shoult he first of Juniary las, the terrible life that was killing her, and asked the ir counsel, that the letter to one of them in which she did this is til in existence to be seen by any one who has a right to in quire into the matter, and that it bears on its face such evidence of truth and candor and mederation that anybody with any knowledge of character can not fail to be impressed with its judicial exactness

Fourth—That all this was before I hid anything but the most formal acquaintance her—a letter couched in the terms usually employed by a man toward the lady who is to be his wife

Eleventh—That after getting this let ter, early on a Monday morning he kept it, said nothing to any one about it did not seek me either in Hartford or New York, though he knew my places of business, and exactly how to find me, but concaled his purpose, and never approached me until at 11 o'clock of the dark, rainy Wednesday night, nearly three days after obtaining it, as we were going from the thearre where she was employed and where I had called to escort her to her friend's house, where she was stying for a month, till her engagement should be over and she could return to her parents in Massachusetts—he stole stealthily up behind me, and, with his pistol within 14 inches of my body, who me in the back That he fired two more shots at me in all and while he was trying to cet off a fairth I grappled him, threw him to the parents meat, and there held his pistol, powerless,

She was moved to consent to this arr ng_memit—which almost broke ner heart—puth because she thought the father with all his ill-treatment of her, loved the child and pirtly because his friends insisted with great earnestness that if he could not could not the could not be could

I have the sime eeling still—in degree I would be too orrible for the poor children who are here horrible for my chi dren. So, it he at ke me again, I shall mean to run very great risk rather than do deadly harm to him Indeed, I hardly know which would
